OFFICERS TO TAKE COURSE FOR RATINGS

Looking Them Over

By Jack Kelly

Dangerous Gals

Beans On Top

Army Chuckles

WICHITA Thunderbolts are fighting with their backs to the wall now, but they are still far from beaten in their challenge for the Underwood basketball trophy that has roared on the Grads' trophy shelf for something like 17 years.

It was only the springing start that the Grads get away with last night that won them the game. After the first quarter, Wichita scored more points in the remaining three than the world champs did.

In the last two periods, particularly, the invaders seemed to have discovered a way to stop the Grad offensive and at the same time found out how to penetrate the Grad defense. Furthermore, the Grads were not off form.

Wichita was able to do this in the last two periods last night there is a good chance that they may be able to do it in four periods on Wednesday. A Wichita victory would send the series into a fourth and final game. In the event that the U.S. girls win both of the remaining games, the series winner will be determined on a total-point basis.

There is still a lot of major thrills left in this series which may be the last the Grads will ever play.

Beans Reardon Will Call 'Em

WHEN the World Series goes underway in Wednesday, John E. Reardon, better known in these parts as "Beans," will be one of the two National League umpires assigned to call 'em. The American League also contributes a pair of umpires. Announcement of Reardon's appointment was made last night.

Edmonton fans of the old Western Canada League will remember Reardon as the most colorful umpire the prairie circuit ever saw. He came here in 1913 from the California sands and immediately took charge with an iron hand. He had the right voice, biggest vocabulary of curse words and highest check of tobacco of any man in the league. One word from a player and Beans thumped him out of old diamond Park. Two words and Beans slapped on a fine as well. Three words and Beans would offer to fight him.

If my memory serves me right, Jack Sturley once gave Reardon some advice that Beans should be a grateful for. Beans was more fiery than wise that day and he picked up a player that was too tough for him. Sturley didn't think that was just right so he cleaned up the big guy's face. He then offered to take on the whole team one at a time, but his offer was flatly rejected.

Just Plain Discrimination

THESE is a damn good laugh a day around the Prince of Wales Armouries as the troops learn about the army. Here's a chuckle that was going the rounds yesterday.

A recruit, very green, is taking down 191st street in a uniform that has just been issued to him and which is not the sort of fit that a tailor would like to see. The recruit passes a commissioned officer without so much as a glance at him.

The officer looks and snags "Halt. Didn't you see my uniform?"

The recruit looks around, takes a glance at the officer, walks up to him and feels the lapel of his tunic.

"Blimey me, I didn't notice it at all," the recruit exclaims. "How the heck did you get such a good one? Look at what they gave me!"

Then there is the chuckle about the hard-boiled sergeant and his first friend.

This sergeant has a date and the gal is to meet him at 191st street and Portage avenue. The sergeant is to come along in a car for his date. It is raining heavily and the gal stands on the corner with an umbrella over her head. As she wheels up, the door is opened and a khaki-clad figure tells the gal to hop in. She does so without looking, figuring it is the sergeant.

However the quickly discovers her mistake. There is not as much as a corporal's stripe on any of the three troopers. The buck explains it is a mistake and announces she is getting out. The buck privates immediately start explaining to her just what sort of trooper officers are and are plying her with her to forget all about such men. However the gal is not to be misled and sticks for her sergeant.

Finally one of the lads gets a chilling thought. In a weak voice he asks just how the sergeant is getting in. It is just as he feared—the rip-roaring, hard-boiled sergeant of his own platoon. The sergeant's name is to never appear again, the driver of the car whips it around and races back to the armory while all three volubly explained that it was all a horrible mistake, that this particular sergeant was unquestionably the salt of the earth, a fine gentleman and a brilliant soldier who only be a general at least and furthermore that they would be only too glad to personally go and find him and bring him to her.

McSporran Goes To Work; Grayston Peps Up Punch

STARTING from the defeat he received in Calgary recently against the greatly improved "Frenchy" Beaudin, Eddie McSporran tore into his training duties with greater vim and vigor as he anticipates redeeming himself when he meets Gordon Grayston at the Memorial Hall Friday night in a 10-round main event battle.

Six weeks ago McSporran came out of retirement. He took that fight against Beaudin as a challenge to his prowess. Friday he fought and despite his defeat on points, McSporran stated that fight did him more good than harm. It helped him tune up on his timing and showed that six weeks was hardly enough to get into top form. Early Monday McSporran continued his gym work and by Thursday will have completed a busy training session. He promises himself to be in the pink for his Grayston date and above he was in turned by the harness-like manner he went into his drilling.

But while McSporran was thus employed, Grayston too was tuning up. His conditioning is perfect as it usually is. But Grayston continued to add pep to his punching.

Wichita Out-Points Champs in Last Half

BY JACK KELLY

Edmonton Bulletin sports writer OUTSCORED in the last two quarters by Wichita, the Grads came through with a 45-30 victory last night as a result of a 17-point lead they were able to pile up in heavy first-quarter barrage that slipped through the U.S. girls before they were able to get underway. It was the second game of the best of four series and the Grads' second victory. The third game will be played Wednesday night.

The world champions outscored Wichita 21-4 in the first quarter and it looked like the start of a grand slam. But with the start of the second period, the invaders pulled themselves together and settled down to a terrific offensive to over-haul the Grads' big lead.

At the end of the second quarter the Grads had been able to add only eight points to their total while the Thunderbolts had scored five. In the third quarter, Wichita outscored the Grads 9-4 and in the final period they outscored the world champions 12-4.

DEFENSIVE TIGHTENED The stress was on defensive play last night. Wichita effected a major reduction in the Grads' field shot and made them shoot from tougher positions while the Edmonton girls retailed in kind.

In the matter of accuracy, the Grads were on top—by only a fraction less than four per cent. The gold and black fired 57 field shots of the Thunder basket and scored 17 of them for an average of 29.8 per cent. Wichita tossed 66 shots at Grad hoop and sank 12 of them for an average of 18.1 per cent. Grad penalty shot accuracy was up. They scored 11 out of 18 for a mark of approximately 60 per cent, while Wichita bagged 6 out of 10 for 60 per cent.

SHEIHER SHEIHERS LEAD In her penalty shot competition with Myrtle Sheiher, Elita Dann again fell behind. She got 11 out of 20 last night to make 44 out of 96. The Wichita ace got 12 out of 25 to bring her total up to 47 out of 97. The competition is a 100-shot affair with 25 shots to be fired during the half-time intermission at each game.

Hazel McConaughy of Wichita was the top scorer for the night with 18 points. Her field accuracy was 23.3 per cent. Rita Dann was the next highest pointer with 16 and a field accuracy of 20 per cent. Alpha Shook, speedy Thureston, scored 14 points.

As Women Battled To Save Warsaw

With women fighting in the front lines, Warsaw put on a heroic resistance as a furious battle was waged in defence of Poland's capital. Under heavy land and air bombardment, the remaining buildings in the beleaguered city were smashed into piles of debris. Above is shown wreckage caused by a bomb.

War's Hurricane

Battered stone walls, trees stripped of branches and foliage, their trunks snapped off like matchsticks, and the debris-strewn ground pocked with great shell holes, compose this impressive picture of war's destruction, taken near Westerplatte. German caption said the German soldiers seen are searching the ruins for weapons after Westerplatte's heroic defenders surrendered following days of bombardment.

Warship Explosion Cost 100 Lives

According to dispatches from Paris, 100 persons were killed and injured a few days ago in an explosion and fire during mine-laying operations aboard the French mine-layer Fidou, shown above, in Casablanca. Belouze, Mugence. According to reports, the Fidou sank immediately after the explosion, which damaged many buildings in Casablanca.

Broad Safety Zone In American Waters Voted by Republics

PANAMA, Panama, Oct. 3.—A full plenary meeting of delegates of the 21 American republics last night approved the declaration of Panama proclaiming a broad safety zone in American waters for inter-American shipping and a general declaration of neutrality in the European war.

Rushing to completion the entire neutrality program for protection of American interests, the delegates asserted the declaration was a "compliment to the Monroe Doctrine" and established for the first time a "Continental American Sea."

The declaration said each American government, by common consent, will serve notice on belligerents in the war of a fixed neutral zone within which belligerent activities will be regarded as a danger to American peace.

A corollary doctrine included in the general neutrality declaration fixes uniform standards, rights and obligations of neutrals with belligerents.

The measures are to be reinforced by a general economic program to be formulated by a permanent advisory committee in Washington.

Open session of the United States undersecretary of state, Sumner Welles, the conference unanimously requested President Juan Demostenes Arias of Panama to communicate the declaration of Panama to all the belligerent nations in Europe.

SOLIDARITY DECLARATION

The session approved a continental solidarity declaration in which the American nations:

1.—Reaffirmed "the declaration of solidarity among the peoples of this hemisphere proclaimed at the Lima conference in 1933."

2.—Pledged themselves to conserve and strengthen peace and harmony among the American republics.

3.—Formulated fervent hopes for cessation of the deplorable state of war in Europe and for "a new reign in the world of peace, not of violence but of justice and right."

The declaration of "general neutrality" gave each country the right to decide its own way of making it effective. It said the nations will make their "rights and positions as neutrals fully respected and observed by all belligerents."

GENERAL NEUTRALITY

It provides that the American nations:

1.—Shall not permit their respective territories, land, sea or air, to be used as a base for belligerent activities.

2.—Shall not permit inhabitants of their territories to affect the neutral position of the American nations by their activities.

3.—Shall not permit enlistments or preparation of expeditions in favor of the belligerents on their soil, or the outfitting of ships for hostilities or establishment of radio or other belligerent communications systems.

4.—Shall not admit belligerent warships to neutral ports or waters in number of more than three at a time and for not longer than 24 hours.

5.—Shall demand that belligerent ships and aircraft seeking hospitals in American zones respect neutrality laws and regulations over the rights and duties of neutrals and belligerents.

6.—Shall regard flight of belligerent aircraft over American territory as an infraction of neutrality.

7.—Shall be authorized to place guards aboard merchant vessels of belligerents in American ports. Excessive delays in port are to bring internment.

8.—Shall permit transfer of a belligerent vessel to a neutral American republic provided it is done in open daylight without concealment.

9.—Shall not permit armed merchant vessels in their ports to carry more than four six-inch cannons on shore.

Stylish

Latest in men's styles from London are these "blackout" eye-catchers. White belts or jackets can be spotted by motorists.

the press. Such vessels shall not have reinforced sides or other equipment for offense.

10.—May exclude belligerent submarines or admit them under the condition they enter ahead flying their flag.

ARGENTINE REQUEST

This last point was in accordance with the Argentine viewpoint. The United States had proposed they be turned from American ports.

Another resolution approved provided the neutrality committee shall study the question of contraband lists of foodstuffs, clothing and articles intended for civil populations of belligerents.

The safety zone for shipping excludes the territorial waters of foreign possessions in the Americas. The Argentine delegation in this connection reserved its long-proclaimed right to sovereignty over the Falkland Islands, a British possession.

ZONE APPROVED

The zone was understood to begin at Panamaquaddy Bay, at the Canadian-United States border in the Atlantic, embrace the Caribbean Sea and Panama Canal approaches in both the Atlantic and Pacific and cover commercial shipping lanes of the entire South American continent.

As the Pacific it reaches out to include the Galapagos Islands 720 miles off the coast of Ecuador, and Guadalupe Island 200 miles off the coast of southern California, and extends westward along the North America coast as far as the Juan de Fuca Straits at the United States-Canadian boundary.

Minor modifications narrowed the zone near some South American coasts but did not affect the principle which provides that nations may establish coastal patrols when necessary.

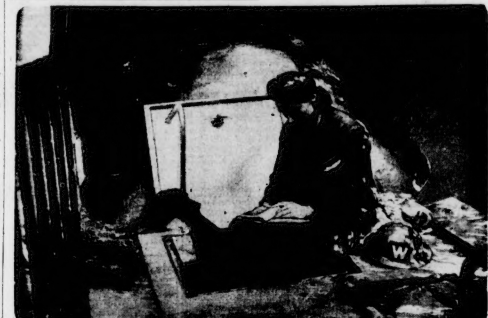

It has been found by retail merchants that their sales "are directly influenced by the ease with which motorists may park their cars at a convenient distance from the store."

Women Replace Men In Paris

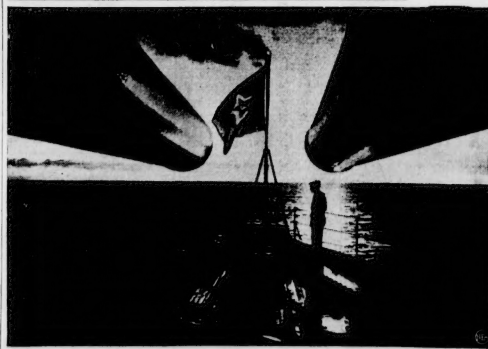

With her gas mask slung over her shoulder a woman ticket puncher is shown on the job in a Paris subway station, taking the place of the man who ordinarily held the job but who has been called for war duty. Note the fire-fighting equipment at the left. This photo was flown from Europe by trans-Atlantic plane.

Coming Up For Air

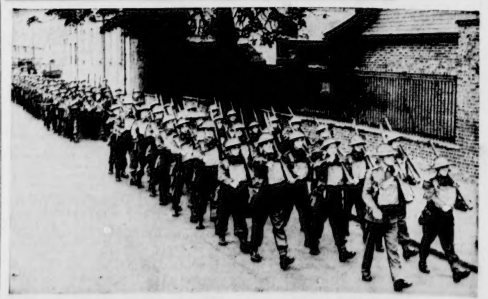

Among the many public duties of British women in wartime is that of air raid warden. This picture, flown via trans-Atlantic Clipper, shows one of the women wardens on duty at an underground post, coming up for a little fresh air.

Soviet Sea Guns Blockade Baltic

Giant guns of the Soviet fleet like those in this striking photo point toward shores of the tiny Baltic Sea rim of Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania. Estonia is reported blockaded by the Russian fleet, and the other two nations are fearful of a Russian move against their independence.

Tommy Atkins In New Uniform

Poised by the British censor, this picture shows a line of "Tommy's" 1939 vintage, swinging along an English road, just as so many of their predecessors of a quarter-century ago did, off to the scene of conflict on the continent. The men are in profusion, wearing the "aki suit" dress that eliminates the puttees that proved such a problem to beginners in the last Great War.

First Shots Fired In Fight to Repeal Arms Embargo on U.S.

By C. R. BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Senator Key Pittman, Nevada Democrat, opened a history-making senate debate on neutrality Monday with a warning continued embargo of United States arms exports to belligerents gives unfair aid to Germany.

Rep. Senator William Borah, Idaho Republican and leader of the group opposing the Roosevelt administration's "cash, credit and carry" plan for arms exports, declared repeal of the embargo would lead to United States involvement in the war between Germany and the Allies.

While Canada, in common with other nations, watched the progress of the debate with keen interest, observers here prophesied that it would be the longest congressional debate in the anti-smuggling European developments may have altered circumstances upon which present arguments are based.

Out of respect for Senator M. Logan, who died during the night of a heart ailment, the senate adjourned today. When debate resumed Senator Tom Connally, Texas Democrat, with continued presentation of the administration's case and will be followed by the veteran isolationist, Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan.

Administration forces were jubilant after a rebuff in the senate indicated 57 votes would favor repeal of the present embargo. A substitution of a provision that the United States sell arms to any nation capable of taking delivery of the spot and paying cash within 90 days.

Senator Sherman Minton, Indiana Democrat, expressed the opinion that Borah and Connally would indicate 57 votes would favor repeal of the present law.

Borah, sometimes called the "Giant of Idaho," called the embargo legislation a "modern pledge that ought to be kept" and said that the United States stood for "peace before profits."

Agreed on one point at least—a wholehearted desire to keep United States from becoming involved in the war—Borah and Pittman held the floor nearly an hour, the only participants in the major debate.

Senator Pittman, chairman of the foreign relations committee, presented the 71-year-old senator in a quiet and impassioned address.

But the 71-year-old Borah, his eyes twinkling at times and leaning heavily on his desk, accused the crowded galleries to applaud at times as if he knew "I'm weakly 20 years ago in a grove, I am looking around again, weakly I know, at the same old grove."

At another stage, stung by interruptions, the Idaho Republican shouted: "I am no pacifist! I don't want to see Great Britain or any other nation attack this nation, kill its people, destroy its property, I will be ready, terrible as I know the consequences will be, to vote for a declaration of war."

I don't want to see Great Britain or any other nation attack this nation, kill its people, destroy its property, I will be ready, terrible as I know the consequences will be, to vote for a declaration of war."

The present world situation was the gravest in history, he said, and "we as the representatives of a peace-loving democratic people have no right to refuse to consider that such war, or the gateway of our country."

He declared United States arms exports to belligerents would lead to United States involvement in the war between Germany and the Allies.

He pointed out the existing neutrality law contained no provision against American ships carrying goods other than arms, and that the law was not intended to be a deterrent to the war between Germany and the Allies.

BRITISH INTERN FORMER FRIEND OF NAZI CHIEF

LONDON, Oct. 3.—Dr. Ernst Hanfstaengl, one-time close friend of Adolf Hitler, was said today by acquaintances to have been interned by the British government. His case, it was said, would be reviewed by one of the special tribunals created by the British home office to deal with "enemy aliens."

Hanfstaengl, former head of the Nazi press bureau, left Vienna in 1937 and had been living since then in voluntary exile in England, ignoring official invitations to return to Berlin.

His lawyers refused to discuss his internment but associates said they hoped a hearing might be arranged within the next two weeks.
